Re: Extremist Activities in Model
Cities Youth Development Program,
Ann Arbor, Michigan

Source one advised on April 18, 1972, that the Model Cities Youth Development Program (MCYDP), in Ann Arbor, Michigan, was being used by persons who operated it as a program to indoctrinate young blacks in the Ann Arbor area, in extremist type and hate type propaganda. The Model Cities Youth Development offices located at 214 North Fourth Avenue, and 211½ North Fourth Avenue, Ann Arbor, Michigan, are being used to disseminate black extremist type literature. Black Panther Party (BPP) newspapers have been passed out from these offices, as well as various black power slogans bearing the red, green and black nationalist flag, and the slogans, "This is going to be our land". During the trial of the Soledad brothers, literature favorable to the Soledad brothers was passed out from these offices.

The Black Panther Party (BPP) is a black extremist organization started in Oakland, California, in December, 1966. It advocates the use of guns and guerrilla tactics to bring about the overthrow of the United States Government.

Source one further advised that the facilities of the organization are being used to hold classes for young black children in which Marxist-Leninist philosophies are being taught, and Chairman Mao's little red book of quotations is being used as a text. Children are required to memorize the quotations.

Source one further advised that representatives of the Model Cities Youth Development Program are engaged in a program at several public elementary schools in the Ann Arbor, Michigan, area, in which they are supposedly tutoring slow children. Rather than tutor the children in these classes in basic education courses, the representatives of the Model Cities Youth Development Program are teaching the children hatred for all whites, disrespect for their teachers, and black extremist type philosophy.

The following persons are employed by Model Cities Youth Development Program:

I. William Thomas Jones -

On May 3, 1972, source one advised William Thomas Jones is employed with Model Cities Youth Development Program as Director in Charge of the Youth Development Program, with the responsibility of hiring the personnel in the program, and direction of the types of programs which are presented to the community.

On June 18, 1971, source two advised that William Thomas Jones and several other individuals traveled in Europe for the purpose of making propaganda for the League of Revolutionary Black Workers (LRBW), and in an attempt to stir up public opinion against the Swedish Government, in hopes that this action would help Vernier Ganton Dowdell, who had formerly been associated with the Revolutionary Action Movement (RAM), and had traveled to Sweden.

The League of Revolutionary Black Workers is a black extremist labor organization whose goal is to oust United Auto Workers as bargaining representatives for black workers in Detroit, Michigan, area automobile plants.

Revolutionary Action Movement is known to be dedicated to the overthrow of the capitalist system in the United States by violence, if necessary, and to its replacement by a socialistic system oriented toward the Chinese Communist interpretation of Marxism-Leninism. RAM is entirely non-white in membership, clandestine in nature, and owes its primary allegiance to the "Bandung World"; that is, the non-white races of the world rather than to any national entity, as such.

On April 18, 1972, source three advised that William Thomas Jones is associated with the International Black Appeal (IBA), Ann Arbor Chapter, Ann Arbor, Michigan.

The International Black Appeal is the fund raising affiliate of the League of Revolutionary Black Workers (LRBW).

On May 4, 1972, Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation entered the Model Cities Program office located at 211 $\frac{1}{2}$ Fourth Avenue, Ann Arbor, Michigan, to locate and interview William Thomas Jones. A Negro male, wearing a red star in his lapel, advised that Jones was currently in Chicago, Illinois, and would be returning to Ann Arbor, in the next few days. Prior to leaving, the Special Agents noticed on the wall immediately inside the door, a poster depicting several orientals carrying rifles. Above and below the poster was what appeared to be Chinese script.

WILLIAM THOMAS JONES, 1023 South Forest, Ann Arbor, Michigan, was interviewed at her place of employment, Model Cities Youth Development Program, 211½ North 4th Avenue, Ann Arbor, Michigan. JONES furnished the following information:

JONES advised that several years ago he was associated with the League of Revolutionary Black Workers (LRBW) in Detroit, Michigan. He said he was an actual member for about two weeks, but that he continued "an association" with the LRBW until it disbanded. He explained that the LRBW has ceased to be an organization and that its members have joined other smaller groups and the LRBW does not presently exist. He said that the LRBW, prior to its dissolution was dedicated to Marxist-Leninist principals and was concerned with the betterment of black people, socially, economically and politically. He said that shortly after the LRBW was begun some of its members expressed the philosophy that advocated violence to obtain their goals. JONES said that he regarded these people as adventuristic and that their ideas did not prevail in the organization and JONES said that one reason he was sorry to see the LRBW disband was that the group had matured enough to have overcome an initial stage of "adventurism" which he believes most radical organizations must go through.

JONES described himself as a black nationalist and as a Marxist-Leninist. He said he would not advocate violence as a means to obtain ends and that he believes in working for the betterment of blacks in the United States politically, socially and economically. He said that he does not identify with the Communist Party, USA, and that although local Communists had made overtures to the LRBW, it was not accepted by the League. He said that the LRBW could see that the Communist Party was interested in using blacks and not in helping in their struggle. He said that he does not identify with Maoism or the Red Chinese because he regards their philosophy "adventuristic". The interviewing Agents asked the meaning of a poster on the wall near the entrance of the Model Cities Youth Development offices that depicts several oriental persons with rifles in their hands and what appears to be Chinese script underneath. He was asked if the poster had anything to do with Maoism. JONES advised that the poster was put on the wall by children who are students in the Model Cities Programs as a part of their study of the country of China. He said that the children viewed the poster as being of people engaged in an effort to better themselves and that they identified with it because they were engaged in a similar struggle. JONES said that the rifles in the hands of the people in the poster were not interpreted by the children or himself to mean that violent means should be used to gain goals.

JONES advised that he has never been a member of, nor is he in sympathy with such groups as the Black Panther Party, the Republic of New Africa, and the black Muslims. He said that they were composed of criminals, drug users and adverturers. He said that he does not believe that groups such as these have been able to do anything for the betterment of blacks.

Through observation the following description of WILLIAM THOMAS JONES was obtained:

Race	Negro
Sex	Male
Height	6'2"
Weight	200
Hair	Black, medium afro, full beard and mustache
Complexion	Medium
Eyes	Brown

II. David Lee Hunter -

On April 18, 1972, source one advised that David Lee Hunter is employed at Model Cities Youth Development Program in the position of Youth Counselor, and teaches a class on weekdays at the school, entitled, "Black Experience". At the class he uses Chairman Mao's quotations as a text, and requires children to memorize the quotations. He teaches hatred for all white persons, and black nationalism to the children.

On September 1, 1969, Lieutenant Eugene Staudenmaier, Ann Arbor, Michigan, Police Department, advised that several officers of the Ann Arbor Police Department attempted on September 1, 1969, to serve a felony warrant on David Lee Hunter, at 203 East Ann Street, Ann Arbor, Michigan. The Ann Arbor Police officers were met with resistance by some twenty Negro males, and police reinforcements were required. Hunter made his escape in the disorder, but five other arrests resulted and three of the police officers required medical attention. Staudenmaier advised that Hunter is the Educational Lieutenant of the Black Berets, a group of twenty to twenty-five Negro males from Ann Arbor, Michigan, who formed an organization patterned after the Black Panther Party (BPP).

On November 4, 1969, Deputy Chief, Harold Olsen, Ann Arbor, Michigan, Police Department, advised that David Lee Hunter was arrested on November 4, 1969, and charged with assaulting a police officer and resisting arrest.

Source advised that she uses the free name, Anika Kambui.

The Republic of New Africa (RNA) was founded in Detroit, Michigan, in March, 1968. Its purpose is to establish an independent black nation within the United States, demanding the States of Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, and South Carolina, and $10,000 per black citizen for reparations. The RNA, a violence-prone, black extremist, separatist organization, is now headquartered in New Orleans, Louisiana.

Now that the weather is nice, there will be alot of outside activities, also alot of police patrols. Something to think about is refraining from having confrontations with police who are out to intimidate. One must remember to keep his cool and resist intimidation by police who will provoke you to do something you may regret later.

Because they will take you to jail and that ain't no picnic."

Doesn't it seem strange that when a race begins to finally understand and deal with the situation that it is up against those that speak out a constantly harrassed until finally they are put in a situation where they are agitators, instigators and a menace to society.

The Wastenaw County Jail now has incarcerated brothers and sisters for not criminal acts but politic acts. Political acts because they will determine the course of the future of the Black race. These are the voices that recognize and understand that the situation here is a crucial one. They understand the reality that Ann Arbor is not different from the Watts, Detroit or Chicago and they know that unless we wake up and began to deal and understand that the system was made for them and not for us, and that it is time to set up some alternatives, then it can easily become on one of those cities.

These brothers have been incarcerated and again find themselves in the same conditions that they were plagued with when they lived in the ghetto's as the rest of us Blacks remember them. The unsanitary conditions that have been a constant threat to the survival of Black people, the lack of sufficient medical care that is more a necessity now than ever before because of the food that the prisoner are fed.

3. More Black Magazines

The 7/9/72 issue of the "Washington Post," a WDC newspaper on pages D-1 and D-9 reported regarding the "Muslim School" in D.C. The article mentioned CARL X. is the Assistant Principal and NEAL X. is on the teaching staff. NEAL X. teaches astrology and general science.

Record # 621606, D.C. Recorder of Deeds, WDC on 7/11/72 showed that Pyramid Industries Inc., which was incorporated in 1962 had among its officers JOHN W. MILLER,

1122 Staples Street, N.E., WDC as a Director. All other officials have already been checked under Bureau instructions.

It is suggested that consideration be given to opening cases on those male individuals mentioned herein to determine their Nation of Islam status. In those instances where the businesses had a "Black Muslim" type of name or the operators had the first name with an X designation, cases could be opened on the business to determine who the males are. Then a case can be opened on the males who are obviously "Black Muslims".

In order to further identify the owners of the businesses mentioned above, on 7/21/72, the writer checked records of the Permit Branch, License and Permit Division, Bureau of Licenses and Inspections, D.C. Dept. Of Economic Development. The records showed the following:
